Your rights

You have the right to know how we process your personal information. You have the right to access, correct and sometimes delete and restrict the personal information we use. You also have the right to complain to us and to the data protection regulator: Section 5 of our Privacy Policy document provides more information.

How we gather personal information

In addition to any personal information you may provide to us in person, we collect personal information in several different ways, for example from Government sources, credit reference agencies and from how you have used other products and services within the Hallidays group of companies. Sometimes for your safety and for legal reasons we may collect personal information by recording and monitoring calls and from CCTV. For more information please see Section 1 of our Privacy Policy.

Our products and services

We need personal information before we can provide our products and service to you. In some cases we will not be able to provide our products and service to you if we don't have all the personal information we need. Please see Section 8 of our Privacy Policy for more information.

Sharing and transferring personal information

We share personal information with our suppliers and other third parties where needed to provide you with the best products and services. We also may be required to share personal information with regulatory authorities, banks, HMRC and law enforcement. Sometimes we transfer personal information to other countries outside the UK, where suitable protection is in place to protect it. For more information please see our Privacy Policy.

Keeping personal information

We keep your personal information securely, only for as long as we need to for the purposes described in section 2 of our Privacy Policy.

Your consent

Sometimes we need your consent to collect and use your personal information (for example for marketing) We will not always need consent to use your personal information - for example if we need it to meet regulatory requirements or to perform a contract with you.
